Contractors that Perform Underground, Construction and Sub-Station Work Lists

Upon request, Southern California Edison Company (SCE) provides these lists to cities, developers, and other entities who are installing overhead and sub-structure systems (under applicable Rules) that tie-in to SCE's system. The tie-in portion is in proximity to systems and underground structures that contain energized cable and equipment owned or operated by SCE. The primary reason for distributing these lists is SCE's concern for safety. The contractors on the list have been made aware of SCE's operating and safety requirements and have indicated their intention to perform work in compliance with those requirements.

In the interest of safety, SCE is distributing these updated lists.

SCE List of Contractors – Sub-station

Neither the CPUC's approval of this list nor SCE's distribution thereof constitutes any approval, endorsement or guarantee of the financial stability or service quality of the entities included therein. Furthermore, neither the CPUC nor SCE shall be responsible or held liable for the accuracy, completeness or validity of this list.

SCE does not endorse a specific contractor, distributor, retailer, other product supplier or manufacturer ("Vendor") and encourages customers to request more than one bid or quote when considering equipment replacement or energy efficiency services. This list of Vendors is not comprehensive. SCE developed the list from publicly available or information provided directly by the Vendor. The list is updated twice a year. A Vendor is listed herein because the Vendor elected to have its name and contact information included, not because SCE is knowledgeable about that Vendor. SCE is not responsible in any way, and customer agrees that SCE is not liable, for any problems customer may have with a Vendor on this list or for negligence, acts of commission, omission, or improper conduct by any such Vendor. Any agreement made between a customer and a listed Vendor is exclusive of SCE.

If you are a business providing energy-related services and would like to be included on a future list, please provide your company's name, business address, phone number, Web address, and specialty to William D. Lowerison at SCE.

Nonresidential Energy Efficiency Product Suppliers and Services Vendor List

SCE will provide these lists to any consumer who requests information concerning non-residential energy efficiency products and installation services.

December 28, 2006

Consulting

Neither the CPUC's approval of this list nor SCE's distribution thereof constitutes any approval, endorsement or guarantee of the financial stability or service quality of the entities included therein. Furthermore, neither the CPUC nor SCE shall be responsible or held liable for the accuracy, completeness or validity of this list.

SCE does not endorse a specific contractor, distributor, retailer, other product supplier or manufacturer ("Vendor") and encourages customers to request more than one bid or quote when considering equipment replacement or energy efficiency services. This list of Vendors is not comprehensive. SCE developed the list from publicly available or information provided directly by the Vendor. The list is updated twice a year. A Vendor is listed herein because the Vendor elected to have its name and contact information included, not because SCE is knowledgeable about that Vendor. SCE is not responsible in any way, and customer agrees that SCE is not liable, for any problems customer may have with a Vendor on this list or for negligence, acts of commission, omission, or improper conduct by any such Vendor. Any agreement made between a customer and a listed Vendor is exclusive of SCE.

If you are a business providing energy efficiency-related services and would like to be included on a future list, please provide your company's name, business address, phone number, Web address, and specialty to William Grimm at SCE:

Energy Efficiency A/C & Heating Vendors

Neither the CPUC's approval of this list nor SCE's distribution thereof constitutes any approval, endorsement or guarantee of the financial stability or service quality of the entities included therein. Furthermore, neither the CPUC nor SCE shall be responsible or held liable for the accuracy, completeness or validity of this list.

SCE does not endorse a specific contractor, distributor, retailer, other product supplier or manufacturer ("Vendor") and encourages customers to request more than one bid or quote when considering equipment replacement or energy efficiency services. This list of Vendors is not comprehensive. SCE developed the list from publicly available or information provided directly by the Vendor. The list is updated twice a year. A Vendor is listed herein because the Vendor elected to have its name and contact information included, not because SCE is knowledgeable about that Vendor. SCE is not responsible in any way, and customer agrees that SCE is not liable, for any problems customer may have with a Vendor on this list or for negligence, acts of commission, omission, or improper conduct by any such Vendor. Any agreement made between a customer and a listed Vendor is exclusive of SCE.

If you are a business providing energy efficiency-related services and would like to be included on a future list, please provide your company's name, business address, phone number, Web address, and specialty to William Grimm at SCE:

Energy Efficiency Refrigeration Vendors

Neither the CPUC's approval of this list nor SCE's distribution thereof constitutes any approval, endorsement or guarantee of the financial stability or service quality of the entities included therein. Furthermore, neither the CPUC nor SCE shall be responsible or held liable for the accuracy, completeness or validity of this list.

SCE does not endorse a specific contractor, distributor, retailer, other product supplier or manufacturer ("Vendor") and encourages customers to request more than one bid or quote when considering equipment replacement or energy efficiency services. This list of Vendors is not comprehensive. SCE developed the list from publicly available or information provided directly by the Vendor. The list is updated twice a year. A Vendor is listed herein because the Vendor elected to have its name and contact information included, not because SCE is knowledgeable about that Vendor. SCE is not responsible in any way, and customer agrees that SCE is not liable, for any problems customer may have with a Vendor on this list or for negligence, acts of commission, omission, or improper conduct by any such Vendor. Any agreement made between a customer and a listed Vendor is exclusive of SCE.

If you are a business providing energy efficiency-related services and would like to be included on a future list, please provide your company's name, business address, phone number, Web address, and specialty to William Grimm at SCE:

List of Engineering Firms Providing Demand Response Preliminary Assessments and Technical Audits for the Technical Assistance and Technology Incentives Program

Engineering Firms Providing Preliminary Assessments and Technical Audits for the Technical Assistance and Technology Incentives

Neither the CPUC's approval of this list nor SCE's distribution thereof constitutes any approval, endorsement or guarantee of the financial stability or service quality of the entities included therein. Furthermore, neither the CPUC nor SCE shall be responsible or held liable for the accuracy, completeness or validity of this list.

All the engineering firms listed except ASW Engineering perform Demand Response preliminary and Demand Response technical audits for the Technical Assistance and Technology Incentives (TA&TI) Program. ASW Engineering, as the TA&TI Program Verification Engineer, reviews the other firms' Demand Response preliminary assessments and Demand Response technical audits. ASW Engineering verifies and tests the third party firms' installation of equipment in SCE customers' facilities to determine the achievable kW load drop. This is done to determine the amount of the technology incentive that is justified to pay the customer.
